House of God and Gate of Heaven

One of our major strengths as Adventists is a unique philosophy of education that seeks to develop the whole person physically, mentally, and socially in a world where education has a strong bias for only mental development. The Seventh-day Adventist Church has been called at such a time as this not only to preach the third angel's message but also to teach the message.<sup>1</sup>

We are reminded of Jacob, who was faced with fear and an uncertain future. Genesis 28:11 says that Jacob left Beersheba and set out for Haran. He was running away from his brother Esau, whom he had betrayed and who was seeking revenge, and Jacob was afraid for the future. In this time of uncertainty, he “stopped for the night because the sun had set. Taking one of the stones there, he put it under his head and lay down to sleep” (Genesis 28:11, NIV).<sup>2</sup>

But in a moment of despair, sometimes a dream comes! Jacob “had a dream in which he saw a stairway resting on the earth, with its top reaching to heaven, and the angels of God were ascending and descending on it” (Genesis 28:12). Majestic ambassadors of God were conducting business between heaven and earth. Most encouraging to Jacob, “there above it stood the Lord” (Genesis 28:13). At the top of every stairway in life stands the Lord. We can trust Him with our future.

This dream was all grace. Jacob was not seeking God—he was fleeing the consequences of his deception. He was not expecting grace, yet the vision and the voice of God bore only assurances. Jacob could never go beyond God's keeping. Grace had brought Jacob safe thus far, and grace would lead him home.<sup>3</sup>

What can we learn from the experience of Jacob? At today's crossroads, we must:

- Have a dream for our Adventist schools. The Lord is sitting on His throne, watching over us, and the angels are there to minister to us and connect us to the throne of God (Genesis 28:12).

- Wake from our sleep and think, paying close attention to our schools and our dreams for them: “When Jacob awoke from his sleep, he thought, ‘surely the Lord is in this place, and I was not aware of it’” (Genesis 28:16).

- Recognize and admit that “surely the Lord is in this place,” and sometimes we may not be aware of it.

- Declare in reverence, “How awesome is this place!” Could our schools become the house of God and the gate of heaven in our communities?

Just like Jacob, we are apprehensive and concerned about the future. What is the future of Adventist education? What will happen to our schools? Where do we get the much-needed resources? The Lord is assuring us today: “I am with you and will watch over you wherever you go, and I will bring you back to this land. I will not leave you until I have done what I have promised you” (Genesis 28:15).
